

ABSTRACT

The invention concerns the use of prebiotics especially fructooligosaccharides for preparing food preparations, functional foods, or pharmaceutical compositions for preventing or treating oxidative stress resulting of an imbalance in the organism of pro-oxidant species relative to antioxidant species in particular to fructose consumption. The invention also concerns a food preparation comprising simple carbohydrates, in particular fructose, associated with prebiotics.